

the main block. The rear volume is lighted by 2 single windows on the first floor and a smaller, double, 1/1 window on the second floor. The southeast, side elevation is not visible from the public right-of-way. The 1-story, gable-roofed, frame garage located to the southeast of the residence, is accessed by a garage door on the northeast elevation and is lighted by a historic window on the northwest elevation.

Historic maps indicate that South Main Street includes some of the earliest development in Cranbury. The settlement began in 1736 with the construction of a mill on the south banks of the Cranbury Brook and, by 1810, developed into a small village. The 1980 National Register of Historic Places Nomination for the Cranbury Historic District indicates that the residence at 33 S. Main Street was constructed circa 1920. Historic maps and visual evidence, however, indicate an earlier construction date. Current homeowners suggest that the stone foundation and hand-hewn interior beams of the southwest bays of the main block point to a late 18th-century construction campaign. Historic maps indicate that a residence was built on the property for "Mrs. Vanhorn" by 1876. This residence is documented in the 1916 Sanborn Map as a 2-story, rectangular-plan, frame dwelling fronted by a 1-story, partial-width front porch and backed by a 2-story, partial-width rear volume which is in turn flanked to the southeast by a 1-story porch. A 1-story outbuilding located to the southeast of the residence and 2-story outbuilding located in the northeast corner of the lot are also documented on the property. Visual evidence, such as changes in the foundation material, suggest that this residence expanded the earlier, 18th-century dwelling. The 1933 Sanborn Map records a dwelling with the same massing, but the 1-story outbuilding has been demolished and the 2-story outbuilding has been replaced by a 1-story garage in the southeast corner of the lot. Historic aerial photographs indicate that the rear volume was expanded to its current size between 1933 and 1940. Visual evidence suggests that during the renovation campaign the front porch was removed and replaced by a gabled door hood, a matching door hood to a secondary side entrance was added, paneled shutters were added to the windows, and the chimney was expanded. Imagery from the 974 photographic inventory documents the residence's current 8-light front door and 6/1 window sash, though visual evidence suggests that the window sash has been replaced within the last ten years. The rear porch was enclosed at an indeterminate time.

33 S. Main Street is a contributing property in the Cranbury Historic District because it retains integrity and historic, character-defining features such as the historic massing of the main volume, the historic shingle siding, and the historic front door. The garage retains historic clapboard siding and historic windows.
